Description:

This floriferous dwarf variety presents stunning red-pink blooms with yellow bases, and dramatic burgundy spots; mounded, variegated green and yellow foliage provides contrast; flowers last very well as cut flowers

Ornamental Features

Little Miss Zoe Alstroemeria features showy bracted red trumpet-shaped flowers with rose overtones, yellow throats and burgundy spots at the ends of the stems from early summer to early fall. The flowers are excellent for cutting. Its pointy leaves remain buttery yellow in color with distinctive green edges throughout the season.

Landscape Attributes

Little Miss Zoe Alstroemeria is an herbaceous perennial with a mounded form. Its medium texture blends into the garden, but can always be balanced by a couple of finer or coarser plants for an effective composition.

This is a relatively low maintenance plant, and usually looks its best without pruning, although it will tolerate pruning. It is a good choice for attracting bees, butterflies and hummingbirds to your yard. It has no significant negative characteristics.

Little Miss Zoe Alstroemeria is recommended for the following landscape applications;

Planting & Growing

Little Miss Zoe Alstroemeria will grow to be about 8 inches tall at maturity extending to 12 inches tall with the flowers, with a spread of 12 inches. When grown in masses or used as a bedding plant, individual plants should be spaced approximately 10 inches apart. It grows at a medium rate, and under ideal conditions can be expected to live for approximately 5 years. As an herbaceous perennial, this plant will usually die back to the crown each winter, and will regrow from the base each spring. Be careful not to disturb the crown in late winter when it may not be readily seen!

This plant does best in full sun to partial shade. It does best in average to evenly moist conditions, but will not tolerate standing water. This plant should not require much in the way of fertilizing once established, although it may appreciate a shot of general-purpose fertilizer from time to time early in the growing season. It is not particular as to soil type or pH. It is somewhat tolerant of urban pollution. Consider covering it with a thick layer of mulch in winter to protect it in exposed locations or colder microclimates. This particular variety is an interspecific hybrid.

Little Miss Zoe Alstroemeria is a fine choice for the garden, but it is also a good selection for planting in outdoor pots and containers. It is often used as a 'filler' in the 'spiller-thriller-filler' container combination, providing a mass of flowers against which the thriller plants stand out. Note that when growing plants in outdoor containers and baskets, they may require more frequent waterings than they would in the yard or garden.
